The sky lightens.
Sunrise.
Only a few more moments to stay snuggled away in bed before the infernal sound of an alarm clock fills the room . . . Moaning and groaning—" its too early! Please just 5 more minutes!
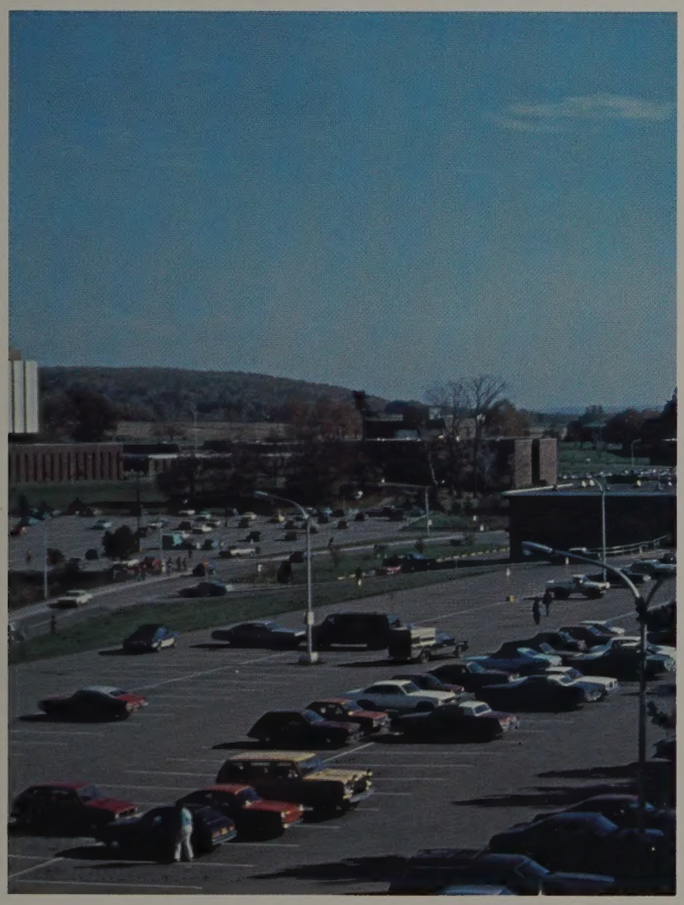
Shuffle off to the bathroom. The subtle drone of water running in the shower fills the mind with the reality that a new day is truly beginning.
. . . Little by little people scuttle out of the dorms and out into the open spaces of the campus.
. . . Ears are filled with the sounds of laughter, feet shuffling, door slamming, etc., as one and all make their way to class, the cafe, the union . . .
The hustle and bustle of an Edinboro day has gotten under way. . . .

STOP



. . . Greeting the familiar faces that have shared the same classes, the same professors, the same homework, the same tests. There is so much in common, yet each forms a different branch, striving and reaching for an individual goal . . . . The tension of impatience swells as the end of class approaches . . . .

. . . Have to hurry. Only 10 more minutes to make it all the way across campus . . . . It is crowded. Everyone seems to be trying to get to the same place . . . . Is it time to eat yet?

The afternoon moves along in much the same manner as the morning. "Hurry, hurry — quicker! Move fast! Look, who's that?" Say hello. Move along.

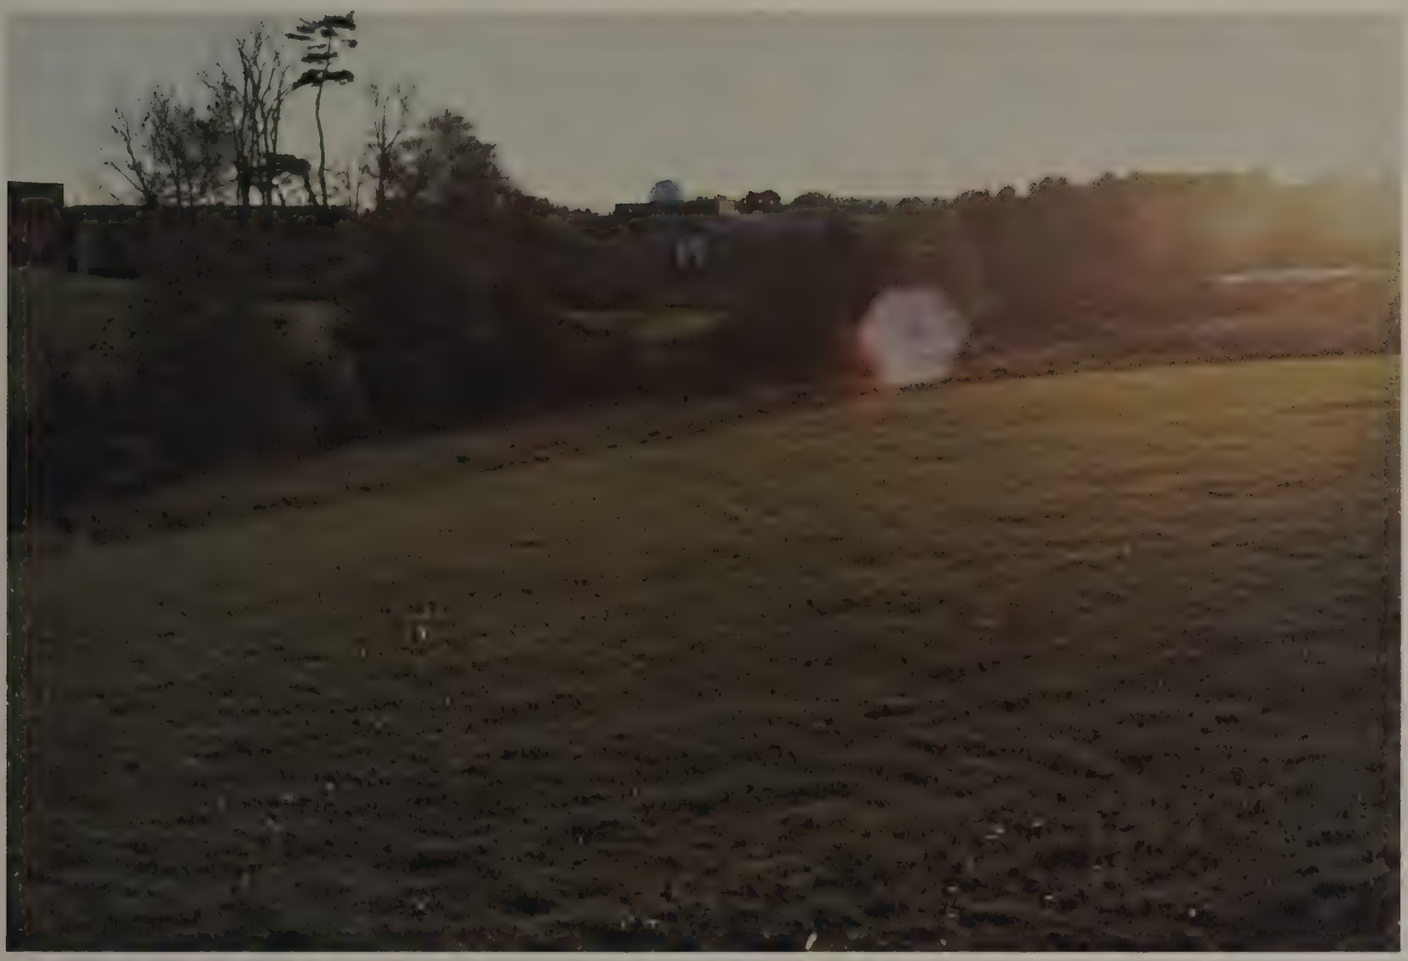
Majestic evening skies lull the excitement of the noonday rush and the early morning haste to a peaceful stroll. The wispy clouds above form a canopy over the now quieting campus. Slowly the sun sinks deeper into the horizon, seemingly into the nearby country side. The shadows grow long reaching out in the evening to touch a distant hill. Cool breezes ripple across the lake as birds fly overhead.

It is evening, for now Edinboro slumbers. Classes are done for the day. The sigh of relief inside can no longer be contained. The evening now belongs to friends, homework, club meetings, and sleep. Darkness chases the evening light away and displays the beauty of night time in Edinboro. The darkened streets, the sparkling lights, the rustling of the trees all belong to the night. Beneath star lit skies the street-lights reflect off the cool dark water and slither across the lake, pacifying all exposed to it. The stillness of the night has replaced the bustle of the day and now Edinboro sleeps.

. . . workin' at the cafe to earn some extra bucks . . . phonin' a friend to make evening plans . . . clowin' around for a wandering photographer . . . playin' racquetball for evening fun . . .

THE EARTH

Its dynamic skies loom above with the power to shape moods; its biological children reach high toward the sun while its inward forces seep upward — spilling out fetters to freedom and challenging the upward souls of its biological cousins.



The "earth" is that ubiquitous entity that presides over ESC — it is that relative constant amongst a flux of change.

What a way to start the day!! Exiting the cafe only to be greeted by a sloshy, muddy, ground, a looming dark sky, and a steady, unsympathic rain.

Oh how threatening the library can seem when there's work to be done. Coming out of the elevator and onto a floor in the library can be an unpleasant act when one must tackle some work.

The eyes of the library are watching you. How comical things can seem when while totally absorbed in a serious paper, one glances up to see the "eyes of the library" watching over him.

"Friday's here and I'm headin' home!!" That bus wait can be pleasant when one knows it is finally Friday, another week has passed, and two days are free for the making.

Winter, spring, summer, and autumn. The seasons never leave Edinboro. The crispness of winter, the freshness of spring, the excitement of summer, and most of all the beauty of autumn . . .

Autumn in Edinboro is one of the students' favorite seasons. The falling of the leaves gives the students the sense that they had better enjoy the few warm days left because winter is on its way.

The colorful array of leaves makes Edinboro a beautiful place to live. Autumn seems to enhance the students' excitement about life in Edinboro. As college students the child that is in us all could never show everything — once in a while that child comes out to play. And autumn is that time that seems to bring that child to life again.

The winter of 80-81 treated Edinboro no differently than it has in past years. Edinboro, known for its "cruel" winters discovered this year was no exception from the norm. Most of the time the roads and sidewalks were covered with snow, and slush, and ice. So when the students weren't busy sliding to their classes, or to the library or a grocery store, they could probably be found in their rooms or apartments sipping hot chocolate and sitting near the strongest heater in the area.

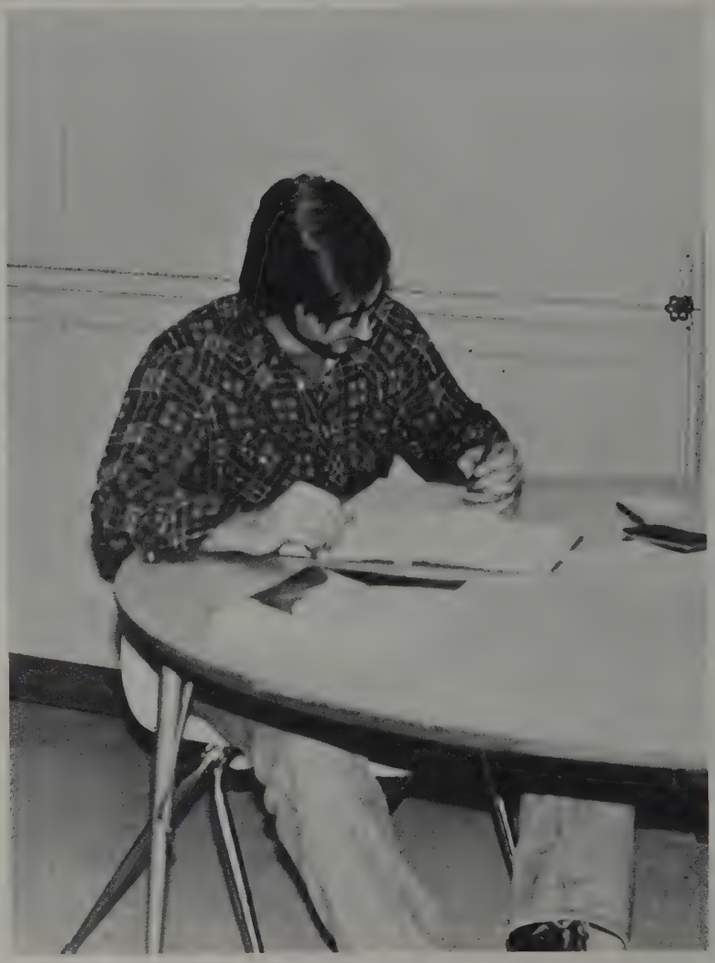
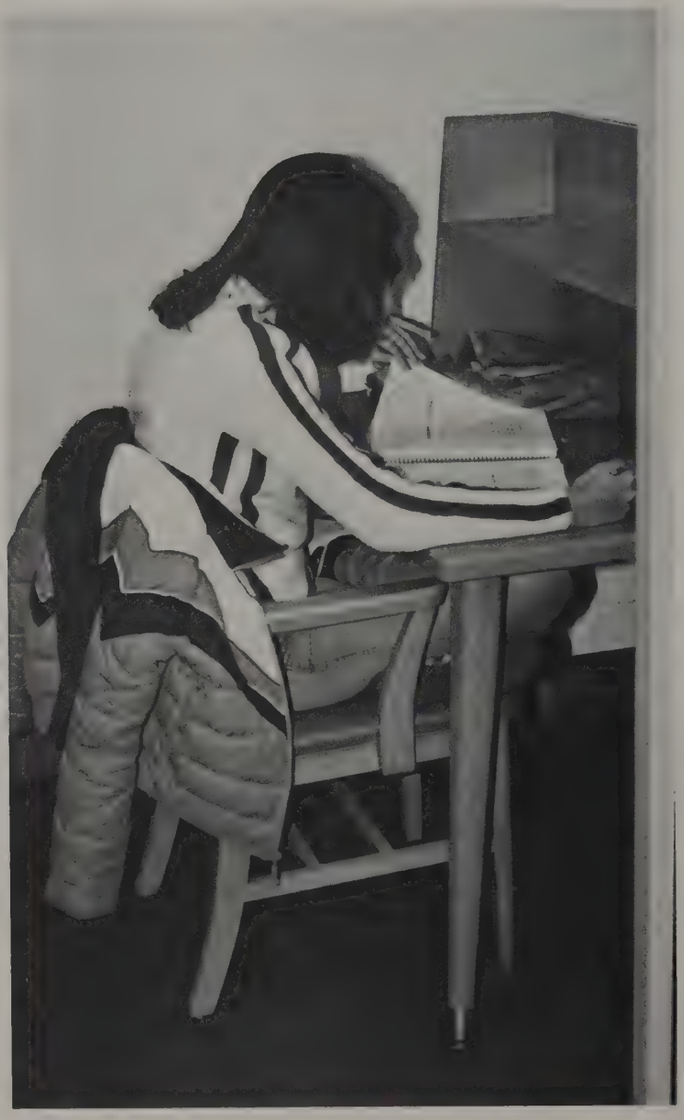
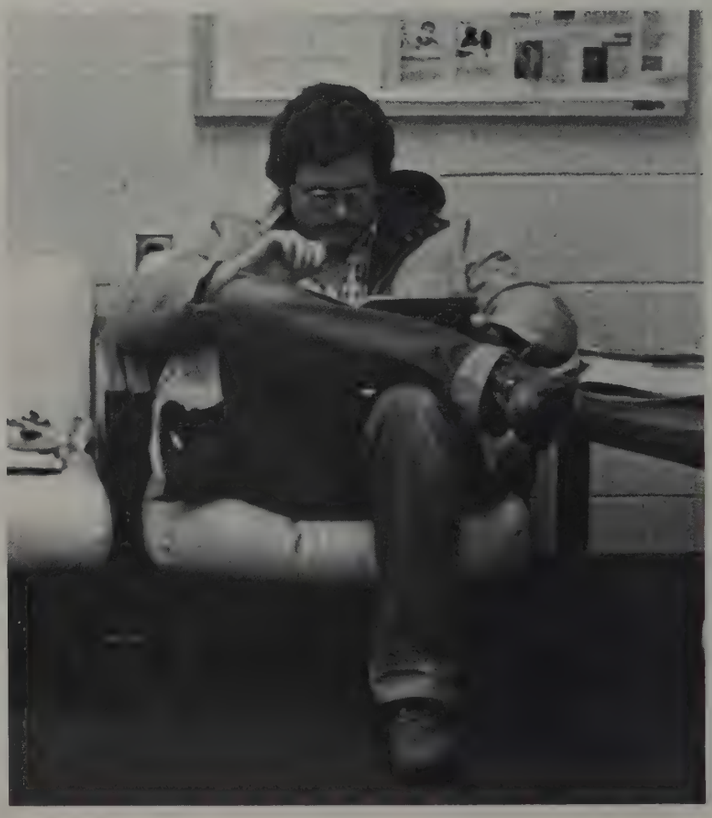
STUDENT LIFE

Student Life:



"Study Time" is almost synonymous with "student life." Whether it be to string together words for a paper or to highlite important sentences in a book, or to absorb oneself in the scientific laws of the universe or whether it be to manipulate numbers for solutions — a student must continually seek out a silent place to complete the work that is "part of his job."

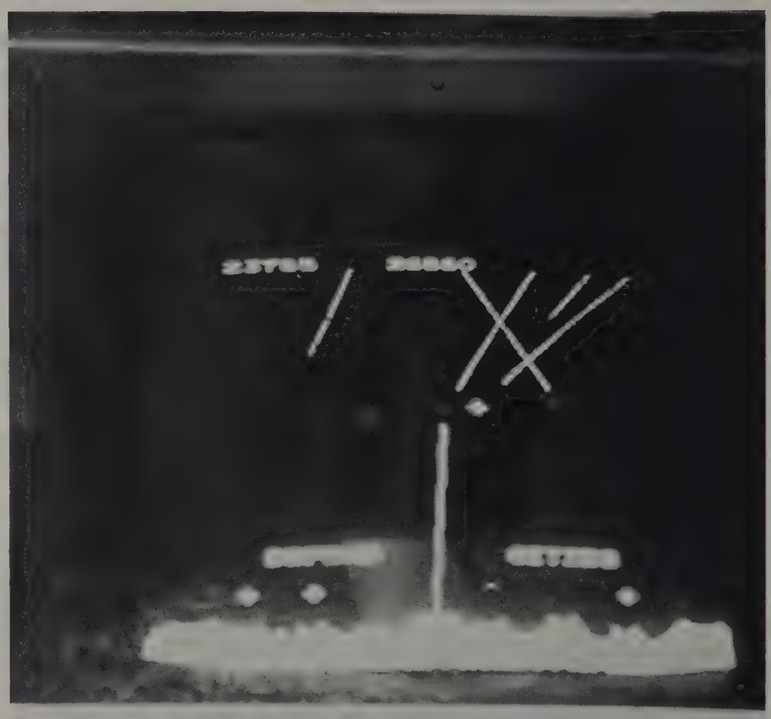


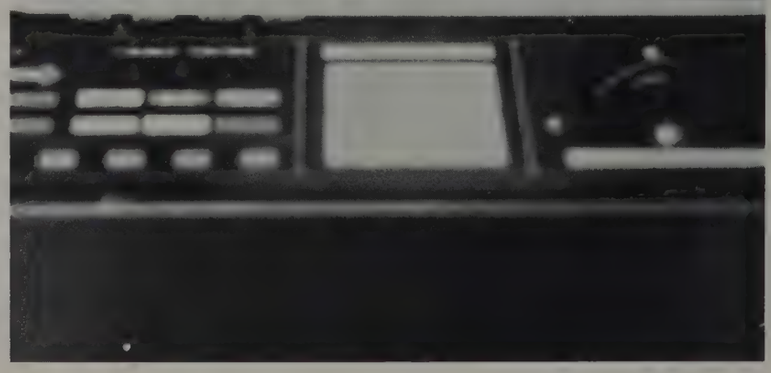


Study Time

Basement of Union Source of Entertainment

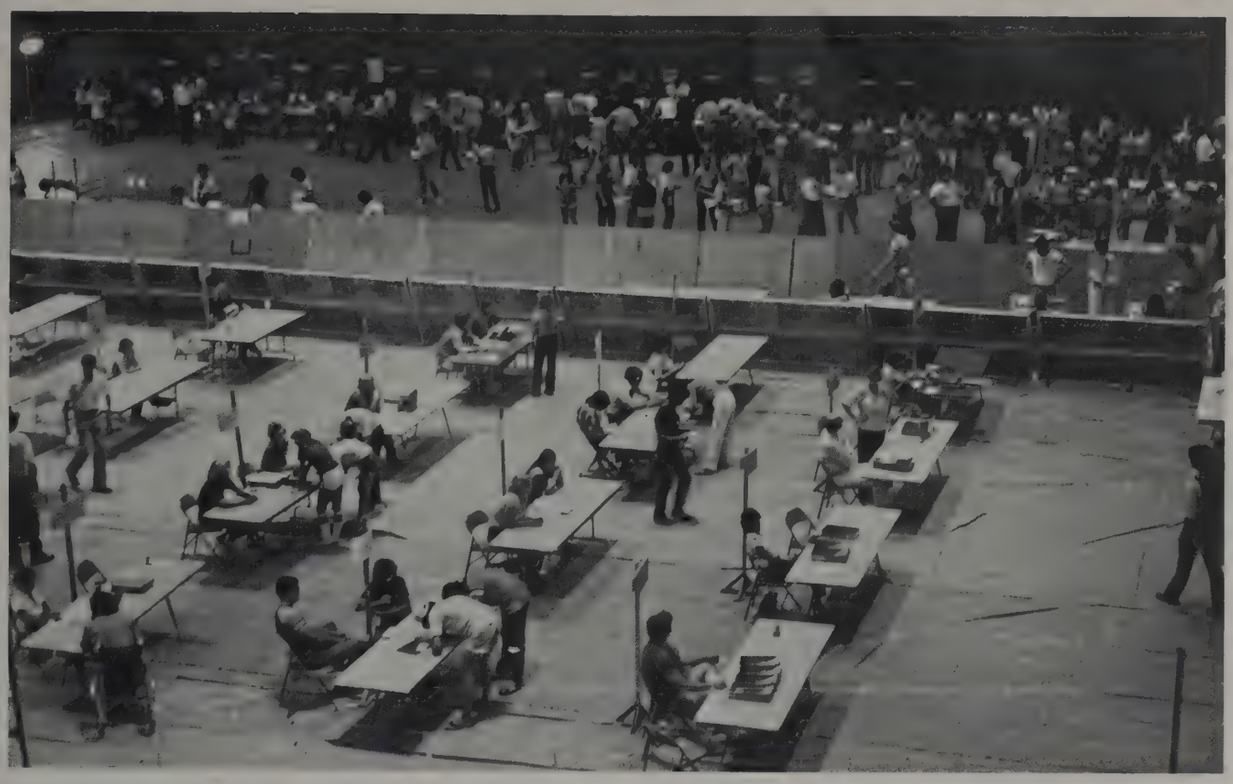
The game room in the basement of the College Union provides a variety of entertainment for the student with time on his hands. The campus lanes are available for both class and recreational bowling. And the dozens of other machine games provide a variety of entertainments for the student with a little time to spare and a few quarters to spend.

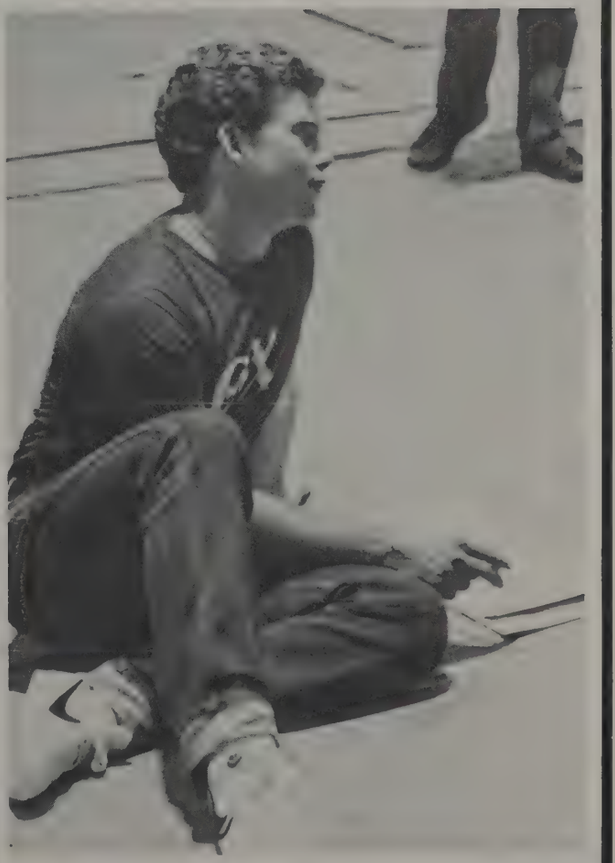




Registration Day Blues

Registration day. Those two days out of the school year that bring forth images of lines, of signs, of papers, of computer cards, of checks, of schedule juggling, of more lines, of add cards, of drop cards, or more lines, of tired feet, of more schedule juggling, or weary stances, of frustrated faces, of more lines . . .





Scranton Holds a Fun Filled Welcome

In an effort to fuse new friendships and to mitigate the tension created by the beginning of a new life, Scranton Hall held olympic like events during the first week of the new school year. Since Scranton Hall houses mostly freshman, the event seemed appropriately placed. The evening was filled with fun and will hopefully leave pleasant memories in the minds of those who began a life at ESC this fall.

Homecoming '80

The festivities begin with a crowning

Standing around the blazing bonfire with faces all aglow, students and faculty awaited the crowning of the 1980 homecoming queen. When the announcement came that Maria Thomas was crowned queen, the joyful cheers and squeals from the crowd made everyone feel that they too were winners.

The beautiful smiles from the newly crowned queen topped all anticipation with happiness as above Mallory Lake fireworks expanded in a spacious array of colors.

The warmth of the bonfire, the smiles of the queen, and the colorful fireworks sparkling above accented another great Homecoming here at ESC.

. . . The Parade Brings All Together . . .

Though slightly gloomy skies peered down once again on another ESC Homecoming, the smiles of red faces and the colorful floats made by the Greek organizations brightened the day and lit the way for the parade. The Zem Zem Shriners brought smiles to the faces of all the children lining the parade route. The main attraction for the young faces seemed to be the clowns and the marvelous marching bands. Occasionally the sun peeked out of the darkening clouds to watch the festivities as the theme of years event — "Through the Eyes of a Child" — developed in the cool autumn air.

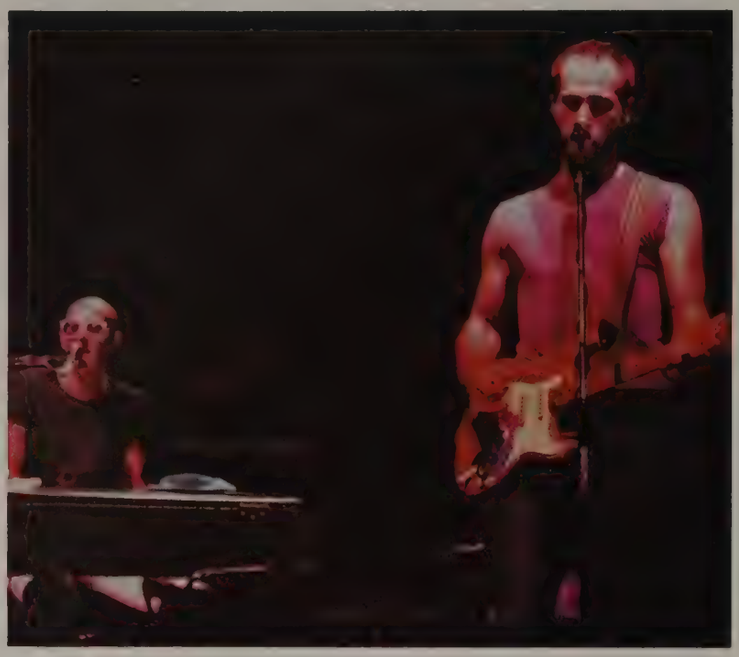
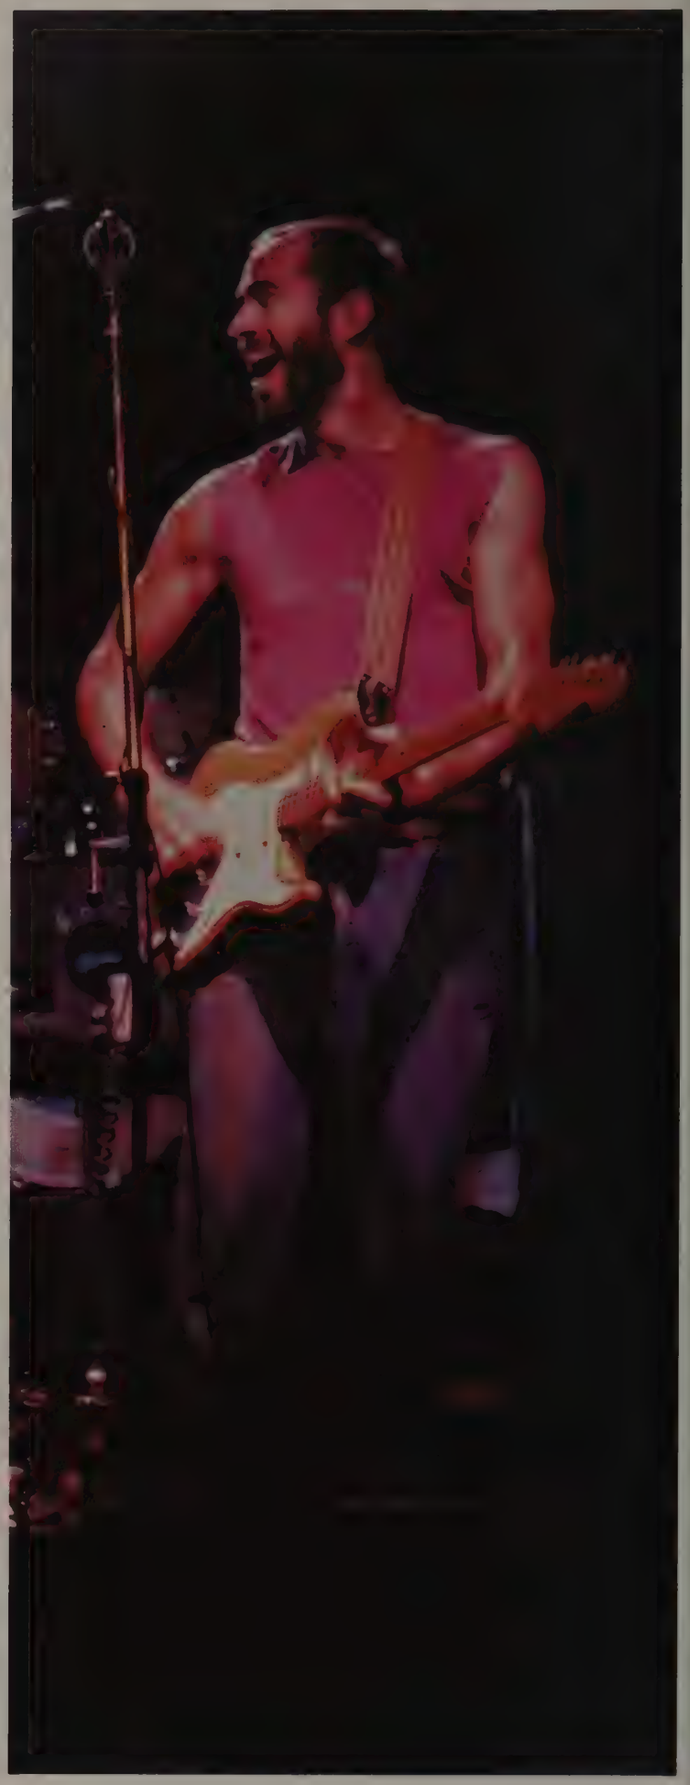
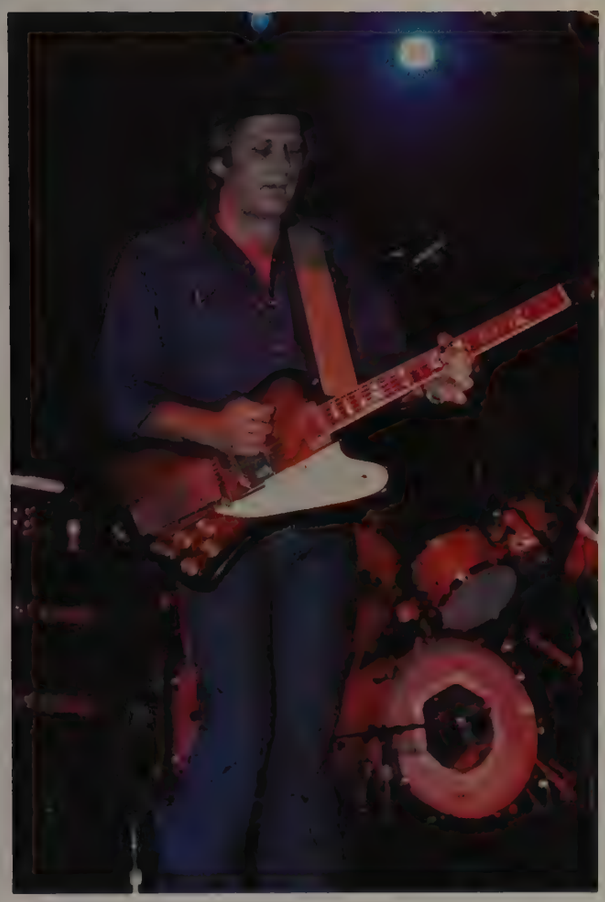
. . . And Poco Ends The Day. . . .







POCO, the popular southern rock group, performed here at Edinboro on October 4, in the McComb fieldhouse.

The group, which is composed of Paul Cotton, Steve Chapmon, Charlie Harrison, and Rusty Young, presented a fascinating visual show along with their excellent musical talent. They captivated the audience with such songs as "Crazy Love," "Heart of the Night," and many songs from their new album "Under The Gun."

This spectacular evening of musical enjoyment was opened by the talented John Hall.

Canoe Races Open the Fall Semester

Canoe races are a familiar event to ESC students returning in September; for newly arrived Freshmen they offer an opportunity to meet new people. The races take place during the early weeks of September. With people dotted about the lake and shrills of excitement racing through the cool, late summer evening air, the races almost cause one to forget that one has arrived or returned on campus to study.

Socializing at the cafe, meandering about the dorm lobby, absorbing oneself in one's breakfast, involving oneself in groups or just plain sneaking a nap all offer ways to take that break from routine.

WHERE

ESC is certainly not excluded from the popular wearing of "information" yielding T-Shirts. Nearly every day an eye-catching T-Shirt is there to catch a smile from an ESC student.

When Van Houten Dining Hall becomes too much for the dorm students, many of them turn to Barbato's for a change of diet. Barbato's, located in the Union, permits the student to dine in a casual way. In addition to the subs and pizza available from Barbato's, the diner can listen to music, relax, and unwind away from the formality of the Dining Hall.

Keeping Fit

Racquetball, softball, weightlifting, cross country skiing — all are just some of the ways in which ESC students are able to bring those bodies from the depths of sedentary schoolwork to the heights of physical activity. The racquetball courts are always filled, autumn abounds with softball competition, cross country skiing is the focus of winter activity, and weightlifting draws a variety of exercisers.

Midnight Munchies

Where does a student go when hunger strikes late in the evening, long after the lines in the cafeteria have closed? If the student can't find relief in the refrigerator he rented for the year, maybe the lobby of his dorm will provide a way for a late lunch. Frats, clubs, and others always seem to be in the dorm lobbies selling hoagies, donuts, pizza and other munchies to satisfy that annoying, angry hunger.

PERFORMANCES

Andrew Young Attempts to Enhance Political Understandings

One of the earliest events of the year at ESC witnessed a large audience gathered in McComb Fieldhouse for the purpose of listening to former Ambassador to the United Nations, Andrew Young, speak. Young explored the history of the U.S. from the perspective of the Black man. He spoke of our current ties with the African nations and he elaborated on the effects of industrialization and urbanization upon the Black race. And, of course, he spoke seriously on current relations and problems in the Middle East.

STATE

February Brings Black Togetherness

February witnesses black culture week at ESC. Elements of black culture are explored in the literary, musical, and historical and activities that are part of this event. It is a week and or event that is characterized by unity, rich culture, and entertainment.

Shakespeare's Characters Brought to Life by National Shakespeare Company

On October 5 and 6 the National Shakespeare Company visited Edinboro bringing to life the characters and themes that are so much a part of Shakespeare's timeless pieces. A "Comedy of Errors" provided entertainment on the first evening of the Company's stay. Romeo and Juliet was the play for the second evening.

Coffeehouses Serve to Break up Weekday Routine.

"Coffeehouse" refers to the small social gatherings in the Union in which ESC students entertain for an evening. The Coffeehouses usually occur on Sunday evening of the week and are quite popular among students who wish for a break from the weekday routine.

Where can most ESC students be found in town? When the urge for an eating change of pace arises, many students drift downtown to the various fastfood restaurants dotting Edinboro. And when the urge to socialize strikes, many students head for one of Edinboro's cozy, nearby bars. Or, if all else fails, a student can pick up victuals at a convenience store.

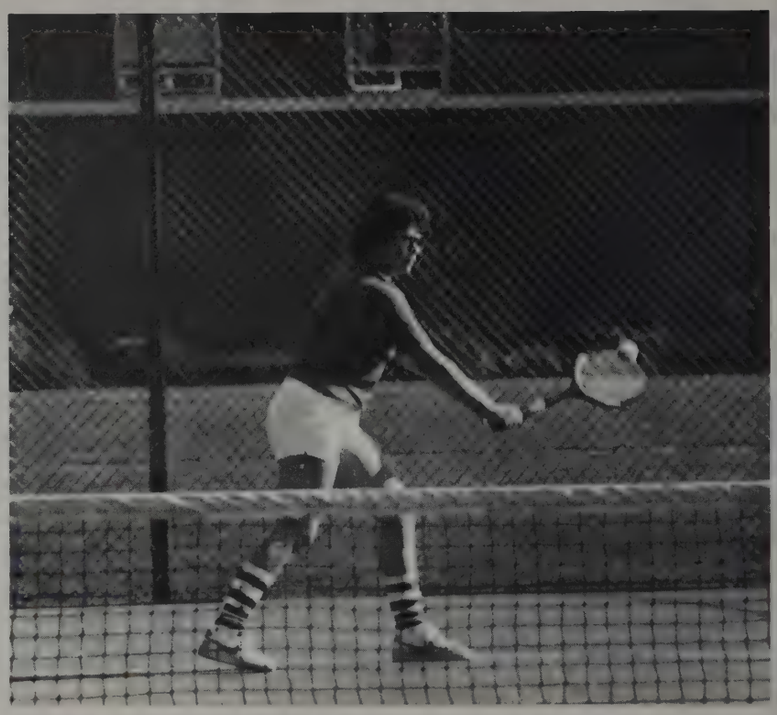
Women's Tennis



The Edinboro Rackettes finished their season victoriously. The Rackettes, coached by Jim Fynn, exhibited their magnificent playing talent all through the season.

Once again rackets were flown at full mast, honoring the team for their performance at the Pennsylvania Conference championship. At the conference the rackettes netted third place for the second year in a row. Praise also went out to the doubles team of Kim Wright and Elaine Morford.

This year the team will be losing their team captain, Renee Perkins, but they will return next year to clench first place at the Pennsylvania Conference Championship. Good luck ladies, we know you can do it.

Soccer

Although the year didn't go very well for the ESC Soccer team we are still quite proud of them. Under the direction of coach George Shimpeno we had many excellent players, J. C. Martin to name one. J. C. finished the season as the top scorer this year, with 13 goals, one assist, and 14 points. Chuck Massaro, Tom Womeodu, and Tom Carver also were two other top scorers.

Football

The ESC football team ended a spectacular season with a very impressive record. Coach Denny Creeham turned out a very fine team of superb athletes, all of whom contributed to the numerous victories for the scotts this year. Some of the outstanding players this season were, Rick Ruszkiewicz, Bob Cicerchiand, Bill Matuscak. Tim Beacham also belongs in the winners circle. Tim, some say is a team within himself, with a dazzling record of being in the right place at the right time. Tim, along with twelve other senior players will be leaving ESC, but they will not be forgotten.

Men's Basketball

Although the Fighting Scot Basketball season started poorly, it ended with a trip to the playoffs.

Losing four starters from last year's team, Coach Conti's roster included five Freshmen, six Sophomores and one Senior.

Facing many disappointments, the Scots were winless in their first five trips into battle. They had also lost the services of veteran, Terry Wilson. The new year brought the Scots some better luck, however. Two new players, Land Battle and Marcus Thompson, transfer students from Florida joined the team.

Struggling for the remainder of the season the Scots closed out play with a 7-16 record, which, ironically, entitled the young team to a trip to the regional playoffs.

The playoff trip was a short one, however. It ended after only one stop when the Scots lost to Indiana University of Pennsylvania in the first game.

Women's Volleyball

When the Edinboro State Fighting Scot Women's Volleyball Team began their season in late August, they had little thought of spending a belated Thanksgiving in California.

In fact, none of the girls on the team gave much thought to a late Fall visit to Connecticut, either. But as the season unfolded, the Lady Scots got to see both the Northeast and the West as compensation for the work they completed on the way to a 31-6 regular season record.

Lori Lewis, a Freshman on the Varsity Team may be a bit overly humble when she says, "I think we had a good season, and I gained a lot of experience." But Lori more than represents the humble attitude of the girls who took ESC's Volleyball team further than it has ever gone.

When the regular season ended and the Women qualified for the regional playoffs, they traveled to Connecticut to test themselves against the best in the East. The Scots found themselves equal to that task, beating all comers on their way to the regional tournament victory.

The win in the East entitled the Lady Scots to enter the national finals in California. Teams from Hawaii, Minnesota, and Utah wasted no time stopping the Lady Scot win streak.

Swimming

The 1980-81 Edinboro State College Swim Team posted a mediocre record at 4-7 despite outstanding achievements by Mike Doyle.

Several of the team's losses showed a deficit of less than ten points, including the first loss to Youngstown State. Edinboro was downed 59-54 despite a strong showing in the 400 yard medley relay, the 200 yard backstroke, the 200 yard individual medley, and both diving events. In losing to Fairmont by 9 points, the Scots posted six firsts, two second and five thirds. Most impressive was the Bloomsburg victory breaking a tie in the last seconds to win by seven, and Robin Doyle setting a school record in the 500 yard freestyle.

Edinboro placed fourth in the Pennsylvania Conference Championships, an improvement of two places from the previous year. Both Pyle and Doyle won several events, with Pyle moving on to the NCAA Nationals in the 200 breaststroke.

Outdoor Recreation Center

The Outdoor Recreation Center, located in the lower level of the College Union, offers many instructional and fun activities for the ESC student. In early fall we sponsor our first trip where we take a group of students camping, repelling, rock climbing and white water rafting. Instruction is provided by a qualified staff headed by Mr. Stephen Hazelwood. Late fall is the time we teach survival training to those who wish this challenge. This trip is divided into two weekends, one for training on survival skills and the other for the actual survival experience. Winter provides the scene for two cross country skiing, camping trips. Again, instruction and guidance is given so the student can learn, have fun, and meet new friends. Canoeing, kayaking, and another rafting, repelling trip is offered in late spring. The skills of cross-country skiing, kayaking, and canoeing are offered free to the student at different times throughout the year. Scuba lessons are also offered three times a year to the student. For downhill skiing, the Recreation Center offers three all college ski nights at Mt. Pleasant where there is no cost to the student. Arrangements are made with Mt. Pleasant for half price skiing every Wednesday night during the skiing season. The Outdoor Recreation Center has camping equipment, Alpine and Nordic skis, snowshoes, toboggans, canoes, and kayaks for rent at a minimal cost to the ESC student. The Outdoor Recreation Center provides the student with the opportunity to learn, meet people, and have fun. Our slogan is — Outdoor Recreation, We Rent Fun!!

What would you do differently if you could repeat the four years?

My four years at Edinboro passed so quickly. I suppose that if I could change these college years, I would probably put more time and effort into my studies. There were also a few classes I never got the chance to take. Finally, I would have liked to become more active in the clubs and organizations.

What would be the first thing you would do if you came back to visit ten years from now?

I would drive around the campus just once, seeing all the new things that had been added since I had gone. Then I would pull into the parking lot near fake lake, get out of my car and stand there looking at all of the old buildings; each will have its own memory. Some will make me laugh, many will make me cry. Then, satisfied that my four years here were not spent in vain, I would simply drive away, leaving behind me what I once was, and head for what I will become.

What are your plans after graduation?

I am going to law school, hopefully the University of Texas at Austin. I will graduate from Edinboro with a Bachelor of Arts in Russian, and this will greatly help my specialization in International Law at the university.

What is your most memorable Edinboro event?

The Christmas Party I had before I became a Resident Assistant has to rank as one of my most memorable events. Good friends, Christmas music, a Christmas tree, and French 77's combined to make it an outstanding party. I will never forget that night as long as I live.

What would be the first thing you would do if you came back ten years from now?

I would probably first make a stop at the Boro Bar. I have had many good times there. I then would try to look up any old friends still in the area.

What was your happiest experience at ESC?

I went for a walk just to look at the scenery in the town and on the campus. These four years have really opened my eyes to how beautiful the seasons are and how much you can learn from people just by saying "hello."

What was your most embarrassing moment at Edinboro?

My most embarrassing moments took place in Baron-Forness Library. One time, I was asked about reference class being over soon and I screamed, "Whoopie!" I didn't think the yell would carry, but it echoed throughout the library. Everyone was staring at me. Another time I ran into a librarian and bounced off his chest, falling in the middle of the library floor. It is fairly easy to realize how red my face turned over that accident as well.

What things will you remember most about Edinboro?

Of course I'll remember the beauty of the campus, the long, cold winter walks to class, the parties, the parties, the parties. But the things I'll remember most aren't really things at all, but people and experiences. The hassles we'd go through to get something accomplished; the camaradie that grew and united us as friends. Edinboro, the people, will remain a unique part of me long after Edinboro, the places, the things, and even the Cafe food, have become obscured in my memory.

What is your most memorable Edinboro event?

It had to be the last football game of this fall semester at Sox-Harrison Stadium. It was the last football game I would watch as an Edinboro student, and it was great when the team defeated top-ranked Clarion. The band and the football team had a lot of spirit, but best of all — Edinboro had a winning season.

What things will you remember most about Edinboro?

It is probably the people I have met here. They have come from a wide variety of backgrounds and cultures. You not only get to know people from different sections of Pennsylvania and US, but many foreign students as well. Some of their beliefs and attitudes are especially different from the values of the small town I grew up in.

How can you tell an Edinboro senior apart from the crowd?

The Edinboro Senior has a confidence and assuredness about himself. He has a better appreciation of life, tends to have better relationships with people, and is very happy.

What things will you remember most about Edinboro?

I think I'll remember the friendliness of the people here in Edinboro when I was first a freshman. With all the anxiety a frosh feels, the people here are terrific! The R.A.'s in the dorms, the profs in class, the workers all over campus were really instrumental in my adjustment. ESC isn't a place—it's a people.
